Gorgeous white peach, mandarin orange, honeyed minerality, and a kiss of toast all define the bouquet, and it hits the palate with medium to full-bodied richness, integrated acidity, plenty of concentration, and a great finish that picks up some obvious minerality. This stunning juice needs 3-4 years of bottle age and will evolve for 2-3 decades if stored correctly. It's probably the white of the vintage."

Cote Rotie Fleur de Montlys (91-93 points, Robert Parker)

Vintage: 2013

Appellation: Rhone

Grape Varieties: 100% syrah

Tasting Notes: “The 2013 Côte Rôtie Fleur de Montlys is one of top releases from the estate and comes all from the Cote Brune lieu-dit. Incorporating 10% Viognier and completely destemmed, it will see 30 months in new French oak prior to bottling. Easily the most voluptuous, sexy and layered in the portfolio, it offers up terrific notes of black raspberries, crushed flowers, olive and a kiss of bacon fat in a medium-bodied, seamless and textured style. It’s already hard to resist, yet I suspect a few years in the cellar will do it good, and it should have 15-20 years of overall longevity.”

Tasting Notes: “Ripe boysenberries, tar, chestnuts, orange peel, dried cherries and tobacco. There’s a beautiful interplay between the more subtle, citrus notes and darker red fruit, and nothing’s out of kilt to the ripeness. Lots of powerful tannins take the full-bodied palate by storm, coating the mouth in layers of intense but fragrant red fruit and steamrolling this Brunello to a long, chewy conclusion. This is a contrastive wine ,built on the foundation of an intricate, wild tannin backbone, but framed in a vibrant and transparent package.”
